Infringement of Copyright of PIGS IN A BLANKET
Attorney File No. 2018-08-0577

Dear Agent for Service of Process and Ms. Slocum, Esq.:

I am writing on behalf of my client Mobius International LLC (hereinafter "Mobi"). My office represents Mobi in intellectual property matters. Mobi is the owner of the intellectual property rights for the Pigs in Blanket silicone baking mold and the U.S. Trademark Rights for PIGS IN A BLANKET for use with cooking molds.

My client has become aware of your client ONTEL's product no. "PIGGY POP." This PIGGY POP product has nearly the same coloring and commercial impression that would cause a likelihood of confusion with my client's Pigs in Blanket silicone baking mold product.

1. The product sheet uses the trademark "PIGS IN A BLANKET" to sell the PIGGY POPS baking mold – violation of my client's trademark rights and is unfair competition.
2. The PIGGY POPS baking mold is a nearly or substantially similar in shape, dimension and appearance, and it uses a similar pink color to my client's product.
3. Use of marketing terms: "EASY AS 1, 2 and 3" and showing (1) the pouring/filling the mold with batter, (2) placing a small hotdog/sausage within the mold with batter; and (3) showing the finished baked item with a sliced open baked good that shows the hotdog/sausage within the baked good.

Use of the same or substantially similar packaging, coloring and descriptions or any variation thereof by your company infringes upon Mobi's copyright, trademark and trade dress rights and causes a likelihood of confusion as to the source or origin of my company's products in violation of Sections 2, 32 and 43(a) of the Lanham Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1051 et seq., 15 U.S.C. § 1114, et. seq., and 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a).

See also California unfair trade practices and unfair competition law, California Business and Profession Code § 17200 et. seq. and § 14330 et. seq. and California common law.

Federal and State trademark and unfair competition laws and Federal copyright laws (Copyright Act of 1976, 17 U.S.C. §101 et seq.) provide trademark and copyright owners the right to seek statutory, equitable and monetary damages, including treble damages and attorney fees, for copyright and trademark infringement.

We demand that your company comply with the following:

1. Immediately cease from using similar colors and descriptions or any connotation thereof, on your PIGGY POPS baking molds that would cause a likelihood of confusion with MOBI's PIGS IN A BLANKET silicone baking mold product.
2. Stop using the mark PIGS IN A BLANKET with the sale and marketing of your client's baking molds. To refer to the type of food being made (pigs in a blanket), it would be better to use a smaller font size and a different location.

3. Within ten (10) days, provide a written statement that your company or companies have ceased making any and all use of similar packaging, colors and descriptions or any connotation thereof, on your PIGGY POP products and that your companies will permanently desist from and make no further use of similar packaging, colors and descriptions or any connotation thereof, on your PIGGY POPS mold products or designation confusingly similar thereto.

We hope to amicably resolve this dispute, and please contact me no later than ten (10) days from the receipt of this letter.

This letter is not intended as a full statement of all of the facts in this matter, nor a waiver of any of my company's rights or remedies, whether at law or in equity, all of which are expressly reserved.

Very truly yours,

/s/ - David Hong, Esq.
